

Lindsay Swanson

Lindsay is the Canadian leader of Supplier Diversity & Inclusion for EY. Lindsay holds a Master's in Economics, and has had a 18 year career in professional practice - 8 of which has been within EY - spanning Strategy, Operations, Marketing and Business Development. In addition to her role at EY, Lindsay is also the Chair for EY Unity, EY's LGBTQIA+ professional network. Lindsay is passionate about building relationships and making lasting connections with diverse entrepreneurs and business leaders, while helping organizations broaden diversity and embrace all elements of DEI. On the weekends you can find Lindsay in one of 3 places: on the shores of Georgian Bay at her cottage with her family, enjoying live music with her spouse at one of Toronto's finest dive bars, or DIY-renovating her 125 year old house.
