LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT AND CEO

Tabatha Bull, President and CEO
Canadian Council for Aboriginal Business

I am pleased to present many available opportunities through our membership, programs, and events for 2022; made possible thanks to the support from sponsors, members, and Indigenous businesses, especially over the past year and half as we all worked together through the pandemic.

As an organization committed to Indigenous business growth and a prosperous economy, we invite you to join us, invigorate your business, act, and make a difference. Contribute to our shared path toward economic reconciliation by supporting our events, programs, and opportunities.

CCAB continually works to understand the challenges Indigenous businesses face and we are advocates for change. We work hard to not only be the connection but to amplify the voice of Indigenous business needs. Helping to rebuild the Indigenous economy in 2022 continues to be CCAB's focus as the country navigates through this economic crisis. Increasing our membership and providing sponsorship opportunities is a vital component to support the success of our work and mission.

Our innovative events and programs are aimed to find solutions on how businesses can move forward, explore new possibilities, and strengthen the Indigenous economy and Canadian marketplace. We provide informative discussions, assistive tools, and vital information to help Indigenous businesses grow and succeed.

Delivering remarkable events through an interactive virtual platform for the past two years provided sponsors with unique branding opportunities and marketing benefits that reached a diverse group of attendees from Canada and around the globe. First out of the gate with this concept it has proven to be an exceptional experience and effective means to connect businesses, sponsors, and other participants in new and meaningful ways.

Much is new for 2022! We intend to break the mould, again, by not only adding new events and more destinations across Canada, but by changing our gala events and providing a hybrid experience to give participants and sponsors the choice of attending live in-person events or joining us virtually from any digitally remote location. We pride ourselves on organizing unforgettable events that inspire and empower. Whether virtual or in-person we provide attendees with strategies to leverage new and existing relationships, procurement opportunities, networking, and idea exchanges to increase business possibilities. Using an innovative and engaging platform we attract participants from across Canada and around the world including Indigenous and non-Indigenous business leaders, and heads of government, corporations, and institutions.

Sponsorship has never been more rewarding with our positive PR, successful relationships, brand visibility, recognition, metrics, survey, and feedback buzz - a meaningful and significant boost for your business! Importantly, CCAB's 2022 events, programs, and new initiatives provide you with an opportunity to support the unique considerations of Indigenous business.

As you read through the 2022 Opportunities Package you will see a wide array of membership benefits and opportunities available in every program, service, and event that we offer.

As CCAB continues to grow, we welcome our members and new businesses to participate in our programs, events, services, and discussions. Now is the time to invest in all the work we do and the services we provide. We appreciate your ongoing and generous support.

Miigwetch,
Tabatha Bull

Progressive Aboriginal Relations[™] (PAR) is the only premier certification program of its type in the world. The trademarked program enables and guides organizations to develop positive and sustainable relationships with Indigenous communities and businesses across all facets of their business. PAR evaluates current programs and helps guide the development of new and effective programs.

Tool & Finance for Aboriginal Business (TFAB)

An online portal that connects Indigenous entrepreneurs with practical business tools, expertise, training, and networks. Tools & Finance for Aboriginal Business (TFAB) provides services across six key business functions: Finance, Operations, Human Resources, Legal & Regulatory, Marketing & Communications, and Technology. Members are invited to provide approved tools and documents that can be shared on the TFAB portal for use by Indigenous businesses across Canada.

Research

CCAB Research continuously strives to support Indigenous communities and companies in Canada. Our influential work is used in developing policies and programs for federal and provincial governments and Canadian corporations. Identifying how Indigenous businesses can access government and corporate supply chains, expand into new markets, and engage in skills development and training for the future of work are just a few ways CCAB research supports the Indigenous economy in Canada. Supporting Indigenous peoples and businesses, CCAB also assists non-Indigenous organizations in fostering meaningful relationships with Indigenous peoples, businesses, and communities.

Supply Change[™]

Supply Change[™], CCAB's Indigenous procurement strategy developed in 2018, aims to increase Indigenous participation in the supply chains of Canadian corporations and governments. We are working on developing both the largest membership in Canada of corporations committed to Indigenous procurement (called CCAB's Aboriginal Procurement Champions) and the largest online directory of Certified Aboriginal Businesses. A new buying and selling network, CCAB's Aboriginal Procurement Marketplace, provides a two-way directory that enhances opportunities that are not readily available through conventional procurement platforms.

Public Policy

CCAB Public Policy uses the best data and research available to ensure that the interests of Indigenous businesses are heard by decision makers from coast-to-coast, and abroad.

Events

Canadian Council for Aboriginal Business prides itself on organizing memorable events. Our live virtual events have proven remarkable and have given CCAB a reputation for delivering a unique experience while connecting members, sponsors, and businesses in new and even better ways.

The way we gather in 2022 is the beginning of our return to in-person events. A change from our pre-Covid gala events, we are adding more destinations and hosting regional hybrid events to allow people from across the country to participate in-person or virtually. Hybrid events allow for people from all locations to participate safely. Our agendas address national concerns but also specific topics applicable to a region; and we reach and connect with Indigenous businesses and corporate partners across the country.

CCAB Business Forums focus on what we do best – connecting people and businesses to innovate, learn, engage in discussions, pursue partnerships, make connections, and celebrate successes.

Progressive Aboriginal RELATIONS

Canadian Council for Aboriginal Business

PROGRESSIVE ABORIGINAL RELATIONS™ (PAR)

Value and Benefits

Progressive Aboriginal Relations™ (PAR) companies are certified as:

good business partners

a great place to work

committed to prosperity in Indigenous communities

Why Progressive Aboriginal Relations (PAR)™?

The PAR program encourages companies to evolve and participate in a growing Indigenous business economy across Canada. The four performance areas: Leadership Actions, Employment, Business Development, and Community Relationships, provide a foundation for the PAR program and represent the core components to successful positive business relations with the Indigenous community.

Benefits Overview

PAR WAS DESIGNED TO BENEFIT BOTH COMPANIES AND COMMUNITIES.

The PAR framework evaluates companies on four performance areas known as the PAR drivers, which are designed to ensure comprehensive business engagement with a community. The four PAR drivers are Leadership Actions, Employment, Business Development, and Community Relationships. Companies recognize the importance of Indigenous participation in the Canadian economy and demonstrate their commitment to working across cultures.

Benefits to PAR Companies

HOW DOES BECOMING PAR CERTIFIED BENEFIT MY COMPANY?

Canada is experiencing a new social and political environment as it pertains to Indigenous people. Indigenous issues are top of mind for the Canadian public, more than any other time in history. Considering this new social reality, more and more Canadian businesses are becoming interested in the opportunities of working with Indigenous people. The growth of Indigenous entrepreneurialism reveals a sophisticated and ambitious businessperson that is looking to partner, collaborate and succeed. Couple this with the groundswell of international support for Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) and sustainability, and it is easy to see the future is bright for Indigenous business.

CCAB is strategically positioned to have an impact on facilitating positive and sustainable relations between the business sector and Indigenous business communities.

PAR is the only premier certification program of its type in the world. The trademarked program enables and guides organizations to develop positive and sustainable relationships with Indigenous communities and businesses across all facets of their business.

PAR evaluates current programs and helps guide the development of new and effective programs. In short, PAR is both an opportunity to reflect on your own values as a company and demonstrate your commitment to working across cultures.

Competitive Advantage

PAR certification is a competitive advantage in establishing your reputation in CSR. PAR certified companies are leading corporate citizens that have proven the business case for sustainable Indigenous relations. PAR certification differentiates an organization from its competitors.

Companies can raise their profile and promote their Indigenous relations success with the use of the PAR logo through mediums such as:

- Company letterhead, envelopes, faxes and other stationary
- Company promotional materials, including recruitment, and marketing materials
- Company website and providing links to CCAB's PAR webpage
- Annual, CSR and sustainable report
- Business cards
- Advertisement such as print, online, radio, or television
- Email signature
- Promotional items

Relationship Building

PAR companies with effective Indigenous relations, that practice continual improvement and have good community feedback processes in place, are in good position to receive greater certainty for their operations.

LEADERSHIP AND EMPLOYEES OF PAR COMPANIES DEVELOP AN INCREASED UNDERSTANDING OF INDIGENOUS CULTURE, TRADITION AND VALUES

PAR certified companies provide a public demonstration of their commitment to progressive Indigenous relations. More specifically, the companies are:

- Good business partners
- Great places to work
- Committed to prosperity in Indigenous communities

STRATEGIC PLANNING, EMPLOYMENT AND PROCUREMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The PAR framework is a management tool that involves vision, principles, policy, strategies, goals, targets, and action plans.

- Targets and action plans are tracked, monitored and measured to assess levels of achievement
- Allows the organization to increase their Indigenous hire within communities
- PAR companies are externally verified through interviews to obtain an outside perspective within the four PAR drivers.

A skilled PAR Cultural Awareness Trainer is able to bridge that gap using a variety of methods and tools. Some methods are live experiential training, developing Computer Based Training, Training Webinars, Consulting & Researching to help corporations work respectfully and confidently with their COI's or Communities of Interest. By being a part of the solution, a bridge between Indigenous Peoples and corporations working on our traditional territories, you are a part of designing the future of our children by building strategies that benefit partnerships with Indigenous peoples in a meaningful way...on the value of Cultural Awareness training to PAR companies

– Bear Standing Tall & Associates – Jason Carter – Cultural Awareness Trainer Testimony

Benefits to Indigenous Communities

HOW DOES PARTNERING WITH A PAR CERTIFIED COMPANY BENEFIT YOUR COMMUNITY?

PAR makes it easier to identify which companies would make good business partners. If you see that a company is PAR certified, you can be confident knowing that they have undergone a lengthy reporting process and have been evaluated by a jury of Indigenous business professionals.

Economic and Business Development Opportunities

PAR companies are required to maintain or improve upon their key performance areas resulting in increased:

- Employment opportunities including recruitment, retention, advancement
- Education, training and skill development opportunities
- Business development, contracting opportunities
- Preferential procurement initiatives
- Understanding of industry and corporate Canada
- Mentorship and capacity building to support the overall Indigenous business community
- Establishment of agreements, joint ventures and partnerships
- Investment in Indigenous business communities including scholarships, bursaries and apprenticeships

PAR Assurance

PAR companies are certified at the committed level, bronze, silver or gold levels. PAR companies undergo an independent external verification and juried review of their performance in Indigenous relations, which provides a high level of assurance to communities that a certified company is committed to the prosperity of Indigenous communities, businesses, and individuals.

PAR assurance is derived from the following:

- CCAB has been certifying leadership in Indigenous relations for over a decade
- PAR verification provides an independent opinion of the level of performance of companies
- The Indigenous community (leaders, business owners, and labor force) look for the PAR logo to demonstrate leadership in improving economic wealth in Indigenous communities
- PAR is part of a management toolkit to support corporate Canada's response to the increased significance of Indigenous business and communities to the economic prosperity of Canada
- PAR is the premier certification program of its type in the world

Current PAR Companies and Levels

Gold Level PAR

Industry Leaders and Sustained Successful Outcomes: In addition to meeting criteria intent at the bronze and silver levels, there are high levels of appreciation within the company and significant positive Indigenous relations to the organization. Indigenous relations policies, strategy, and PAR criteria intent are fully ingrained within the company, at all levels. A role model company for positive Indigenous relations, has a continuous improvement philosophy, and good results and trends across PAR drivers (with data evidence). Mature processes and innovative enhancements over a number of years are present across all departments (within submission scope). Exceptional support for the company from Indigenous communities/ groups/stakeholders.

CURRENT GOLD LEVEL COMPANIES

Silver Level PAR

Implementation and Results: In addition to meeting the intent at the bronze level, companies achieve positive results and trends in the four drivers: Leadership Actions, Employment, Business, and Community Relationships for the full submission reporting period (3 years) with data evidence. Success of activities are well communicated and with partnerships and agreements in place there is support for the community in the four drivers.

CURRENT SILVER LEVEL COMPANIES

Bronze Level PAR

Commitment and Action Plans: Policy and commitment have been implemented into the business planning; cultural awareness training has been integrated throughout the organization; and targets and action plans for the drivers have been put in place. Leadership actions, employment business development, and community relationships have been set.

CURRENT BRONZE LEVEL COMPANIES

PAR Committed Level

Foundation Building: Companies undergo a building process to create a sustainable internal operating structure that raises the value of PAR within the company. Within the first years of PAR participation, PAR Committed Level participants are required to internally review their Communities of Interest (COI) and seek feedback from them on a scheduled basis. This ongoing dialogue with COIs helps companies gain a far better understanding of what communities are looking for, how they need to be supported, and how best to work with them. Through an evaluations process, regular engagement, and check-ins, companies gain knowledge and are better equipped to identify barriers and gaps in the four PAR drivers.

RESEARCH

Leading Indigenous Research

CCAB Research is Canada's leading Indigenous research team. CCAB transforms information from insights to action, driving economic development and policy change for Indigenous Peoples from coast to coast to coast.

WHAT WE DO:

Research is impact focused. Our work informs policy-change and program development for federal and provincial governments, corporate Canada, academia, Indigenous and non-Indigenous businesses, and communities. Identifying how Indigenous businesses can access government and corporate supply chains, expand into new markets, and engage in skills development and training for the future of work are just a few ways that our research supports the Indigenous economy in Canada. Our research helps to assist non-Indigenous organizations foster meaningful relationships with Indigenous peoples, businesses, and communities.

We house the most extensive list of Indigenous-owned businesses in Canada (over 20,000 businesses), by sector and geography. Currently, we provide analysis of existing data and conduct primary research to report on the size and scope of the Indigenous economy as related to:

- procurement;
- trade and export;
- Indigenous participation in technology, innovation, and the future of work;
- community economic development;
- Indigenous women's entrepreneurship;
- the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic on Indigenous businesses; and,
- various other region and sector specific topics.

2021 Milestones

CCAB Research has been leading the charge toward economic reconciliation with Indigenous peoples by informing the development of many policies and programs. Recently, we have expanded our research topics to create targeted reports on COVID-19, Indigenous women entrepreneurs, and reports on Indigenous identity. Adapting our research approaches and understanding the different experiences within the Indigenous business community has played a key part in informing effective policy. In the past five years, CCAB Research facilitated many ground-breaking developments for the Indigenous economy, including:

- Informed the development of the Government of Ontario's Indigenous Economic Development Fund which invested $95 million over ten years in Indigenous business and Indigenous communities.
- Informed the federal government's adoption of a five percent (5%) Indigenous procurement target across all federal departments and agencies.
- Helped guide corporate strategies across the country to work better with their Indigenous partners.
- Engaged over a dozen federal ministries, as well as provincial and municipal governments, to improve their procurement spend on Indigenous firms and ensure new policy and program support.

Indigenous Perspectives on Social Innovation and Social Finance in Canada

Partner: Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC)

In partnership with ESDC, the CCAB embarked on this research project to develop a preliminary, qualitative understanding of how businesses navigate the current social finance ecosystem. Through 16 in-depth interviews conducted between June and July 2020, CCAB sought the perspectives of the organizations on both sides of the social finance equation: Indigenous organizations that have a social innovation aspect to their business (known as Social Purpose Organizations, or SPOs), and the social finance lenders and investors.

CCAB's goal with this research is to better reflect the knowledge, values, and preferences of Indigenous businesses with respect to Social Innovation and Social Finance (SISF) in the design and implementation of the Government of Canada's SISF Strategy. This research will be used to establish priorities, develop operational definitions, and inform future research needs, thereby addressing a significant knowledge gap surrounding the role of social finance in the Indigenous business community.

COVID-19 Indigenous Business Survey: Phase 2

Partner: Indigenous Services Canada

To build on our understanding of the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic and the changing economic environment, CCAB in collaboration with National Aboriginal Capital Corporations Association (NACCA) and the National Indigenous Economic Development Board (NIEDB) undertook a second phase of the COVID-19 Indigenous Business Survey in December 2020.

Phase II of the COVID-19 Indigenous Business Survey, published in June 2021, provides insight into the changing impacts to Indigenous businesses amidst second and third waves of the pandemic and ongoing public health strategies in Canada. The report makes comparisons to data collected from the first phase of the survey and provides analysis on access and engagement with government programming and supports.

Understanding Intellectual Property Awareness & Use by Indigenous Businesses

Partner: Innovation, Science, and Economic Development Canada (ISED)

CCAB conducted the 2019 Intellectual Property (IP) Survey of Indigenous Businesses to develop a better understanding of the awareness and use of IP protections among Indigenous businesses in Canada.

This report presents the results of a telephone survey conducted with 1,100 First Nations, Inuit and Métis business owners across Canada between August and September 2019. This study provides a baseline understanding of what Indigenous businesses know about IP, how they are currently using it, their most common information sources, and IP's impact on their business performance. It is also the first study of its kind in Canada that explores how Indigenous businesses currently protect traditional knowledge and cultural expressions.

The findings are used to help governments and Indigenous entrepreneurs themselves better understand the opportunities and challenges associated with IP for Indigenous businesses.

Looking Ahead

Indigenous-owned Exporters Census and Surveys

Partner: Global Affairs Canada

In collaboration with Global Affairs Canada, Big River Analytics and Environics Research, CCAB is conducting its largest national research study to date to learn more about the exporting and importing activities of Indigenous businesses, covering both intensity (an in-depth granular look) and propensity (likelihood to export in the future).

The impacts of COVID-19 on Aboriginal Economic Development Corporations

Partner: Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council, (SSHRC) Northern Policy Analytics, and University of Saskatchewan

In partnership with SSHRC, Northern Policy Analytics, and the University of Saskatchewan, CCAB is conducting interviews with representatives of First Nations Economic Development Corporations from across Canada to understand the COVID-19 pandemic's economic impact on First Nation Economic Development Corporations and best practices for pivoting/recovery.

COVID-19 Indigenous Business Survey: Phase 3

Partner: Indigenous Services Canada

Building on previous iterations of CCAB's COVID-19 Indigenous Business Survey, CCAB is conducting a third phase to further understand the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic and changing economic environment on Indigenous businesses in Canada.

Indigenous Women Entrepreneurship Study: Phase 2

Partner: Women Entrepreneurship Knowledge Hub (WEKH)

In partnership with WEKH, CCAB engages in research to better understand the experiences of Indigenous female entrepreneurs in Ontario, specifically during the early stages of their business. By understanding the barriers and accomplishments experienced during the start-up phase of these businesses, we can recommend solutions to improve services for Indigenous women entrepreneurs.

COVID-19 Targeted Analyses

Partner: ISED

Early findings from our COVID-19 Indigenous Business Surveys show the impacts of the pandemic have been felt differently across Indigenous identity groups. CCAB is conducting a targeted analysis of the data through a gender and identity lens to further understand the disproportionate effects and unique impacts of COVID-19 on different genders and Indigenous heritages.

The above are just some examples of what CCAB can do for you.

SUPPLY CHANGE

Indigenous Procurement

Supply Change

“Our research demonstrates that Indigenous businesses have the capacity to supply 24 per cent of federal procurement. As a result of those findings, the government mandated procurement from Indigenous business to at least 5 per cent. That’s not new tax dollars, it’s money that they’re already spending every year. By increasing Indigenous procurement to 5 per cent, we estimate that $1-billion would be added to the Indigenous economy, which will in turn improve employment rates, housing and health of Indigenous people – and that’s what economic reconciliation looks like.”

- Tabatha Bull, President & CEO, Canadian Council for Aboriginal Business

Supply Change™ is comprised of various pillars including the following:

Aboriginal Procurement CHAMPION

The Aboriginal Procurement Champions are a high-profile group of corporations and government entities making public commitments to procure more from Indigenous businesses within their own supply chains as well as those of their prime suppliers. The Champions are actively engaged in promoting the inclusion of Indigenous businesses within the supply chains of their peers in addition to encouraging Indigenous businesses to become Certified Aboriginal Businesses.

For more information on how to become an Aboriginal Procurement Champion, please visit www.supplychange.ca

CERTIFIED Aboriginal Business

The Certified Aboriginal Business (CAB) designation provides organizations and communities with the assurance that Indigenous procurement opportunities are going to businesses who have been independently pre-certified as at least 51% Indigenous owned and controlled. Research found that 82% of corporate respondents regard CCAB's CAB designation useful for enhancing Indigenous procurement outcomes.

Aboriginal Procurement MARKETPLACE

The Aboriginal Procurement Marketplace is an online portal that acts as a two-way directory between CAB companies and representatives from the Aboriginal Procurement Champions. All CAB companies have a marketing profile that can be searched by Champion companies when they are looking to go out to market on bids. In turn, each Champion provides an internal procurement representative that will be identified in the marketplace for CAB's to reach out to. One of the key elements of the portal is that Champions will be able to post mid-level procurement opportunities to connect Indigenous businesses to opportunities they are seeking that aren't available on conventional procurement platforms.

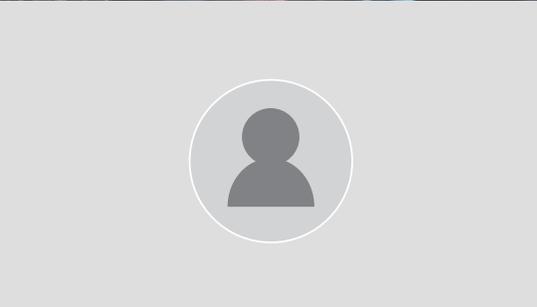

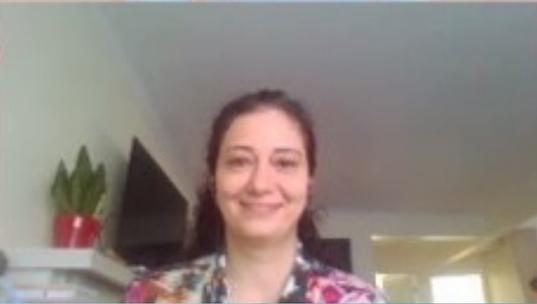

“Supply Change™ is all about building robust supplier networks and advancing economic reconciliation. I am honoured to be Co-Chair and look forward to supporting the continued, rapid expansion of this exciting procurement initiative. The incredible success of Supply Change™ underscores the exceptional talent of Indigenous entrepreneurs and the power of partnerships with Aboriginal businesses.”

Public Policy Programs to Assist Indigenous Businesses with Exporting

For Indigenous firms operating in a small open economy like Canada, unlocking international markets can be an important strategy for business growth and success. Pre-COVID-19, Indigenous businesses made significant export growth. According to research done by CCAB, in partnership with Global Affairs Canada, one in four Indigenous businesses export (24.4%). However, CCAB's research work has found that Indigenous businesses regularly noted that lack of access to both business networks and mentorship opportunities held back Indigenous business growth.

Creating Opportunities: Export Missions

These initiatives recognize the unique characteristics of Indigenous businesses, and reflect a holistic approach where community support, local job creation, and Indigenous socio-cultural development are important considerations. Furthermore, they respect and support the unique distinctions-based and place-based considerations of Indigenous businesses.

The Public Policy department has undertaken many initiatives to assist Indigenous businesses with exporting including:

- Indigenous Export Missions¹:
