

INDIGENOUS AWARENESS INTRODUCTION

Explore and Understand

Danielle Hartley Indigenous Relations (DHIR) and Ethree have joined forces to bring you an engaging and interactive online short course to raise your awareness of the history, life and culture of Indigenous Peoples in Canada.

This stand-alone introductory course will take around 90 minutes to complete and access is provided for 3 months. Once you register, you will receive immediate access to the course and you can complete it as many times as you like over your 3-month access.

COST

- $49.95 + per person.
- Group discounts available
- Available at any time through EthreeOnline.ca

HOW WELL DO YOU UNDERSTAND OUR HISTORY?

Many people in Canada may find themselves at a loss when it comes to understanding Indigenous Peoples in Canada. Just because we find ourselves on the land, does not mean we understand the language, terms we might hear, or have any knowledge of events, past and present, that shape the reality for Indigenous Peoples today.

This course provides a foundational overview of what we mean when we say 'Indigenous Peoples' in Canada, the history and events that have shaped where we are today and the ongoing conversations that need to be had to support Indigenous Communities and reconciliation.

Danielle Hartley
Indigenous Relations

Visit ethreeonline.ca for more information and to register.