About CCAB

CCAB is a national member-based organization. Membership includes Indigenous and non-Indigenous businesses operating in Canada. The organization is governed by a voluntary Board of Directors that is representative of the membership. This includes patrons, Indigenous business members and senior industry leaders. The staff is made up of a team of dynamic professionals dedicated to economic reconciliation and growing the Indigenous economy for the benefit of all Canadians.

CCAB is a non-partisan/non-profit organization with a mission to promote, strengthen and enhance a prosperous Indigenous economy by fostering business relationships, opportunities and awareness. CCAB is supported through corporate funding, event sponsorship and membership dues, and also receives some support from government for research and program development.

CCAB prides itself on organizing unforgettable events and developing beneficial programs such as its Progressive Aboriginal Relations™ (PAR), Supply Change™ procurement strategy, Tools & Financing for Aboriginal Business (TFAB), Indigenous research & policy, and more.

The Magazine

Aboriginal Business Report is the official publication and voice of CCAB, its members, and the Indigenous business community in Canada. It is the country's most reliable source of information and insights on Indigenous business activity and actively promotes business opportunities and sustainable relationships with Indigenous companies.

Collaborating with MediaEdge's team of Indigenous and non-Indigenous writers and sales group, CCAB members provide interviews, contribute story ideas, and supply strong credible advertisements in each edition. Feature articles and stories are based on current, diverse issues and developments that inspire, inform and empower. Each edition provides strategies to leverage new and existing business relationships, procurement channels and networking opportunities to optimize business potential.

Aboriginal Business Report contains information on events and programs that help businesses move forward, explore new possibilities, and strengthen the Indigenous economy and Canadian marketplace. It is an excellent means of communication, providing an innovative forum for businesses, entrepreneurs and corporations to interconnect.
